

Running Google Calendar on the website...

• As you can see the calendar is quite flexible. By clicking on individual entries you can see some details on the classes, trials, etc. You can also advance and look at weeks in the future in the Week view (see the next slide).

As you can see, the calendar on our web site is quite flexible. You can also print it if you like by clicking the "print button near the Week view button at the top.

The one thing you can not do is to edit, delete or ruin the calendar. So go ahead and explore these features and see what works best for you.

Send any additions of corrections to Kay Wood at kw2747@yahoo.com

Edie is in charge of adding and deleting items from the calendar. One thing I will add, if you ask to have something added to the Google calendar, please send complete information. It's hard enough to make these entries with all the information, but trying to figure out what different people want (read your mind) always creates delays or affects accuracy in the entries.

Thank you,
